Obituary: Cyril Trevor Shaw: Captain Cyril Trevor Shaw, 122nd, attached 120th Infantry, I.A., younger son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shaw, of Middleton Lodge, Hornsea, Yorkshire, was born in India in 1882, and educated at Bedford School. He left in 1900 to take a commission in the Sligo Militia Artillery, passing thence into the York, and Lanes. Regiment, and being posted to the battalion then in India. In a year or two he obtained a commission in the 122nd Rajputana Infantry, and did some excellent work on the North-West Frontier. When war broke out, he applied to be attached to a regiment going to the front, and was soon sent to the Persian Gulf with the 120th Rajputana Infantry, and fell at the end of November. —The Times.

Born: 28th December 1875 Norwood, Surrey
 Baptised: 31st January 1876 All Saints with St Margaret, Upper Norwood, Surrey

Father: Charles Wroughton del Horst HOLLAND Born: Bombay, INDIA (1845 – 1922)
 (Married : 27th February 1875 - All Saints with St Margaret, Upper Norwood, Surrey)
 Mother: Margaret Elizabeth RIACH Born: Manchester, Lancashire (1852 – 1933)
 Marriage: 7th December 1909 St Mary's, Wimbledon, Surrey
 Wife: Enid Gwen Pollock HORNE Born: Wimbledon, Surrey (1886 – )
 Children: Graham Michael Stewart HOLLAND Born: Wimbledon, Surrey (1910 – 1926)
 Killed in action: 23rd August 1914 Mons, Belgium

'Major Holland was in command of 120th Battery in their first action on the canal west of Mons when they came under heavy rifle and shell fire on the morning of 23 August. As the foremost guns of 5 Division, they were dug in along the towpath at St Ghislain and their return fire together with that of the infantry initially repelled the enemy. But severe enemy pressure caused the battery to be withdrawn; one section firing on the enemy all afternoon from the side of a slag heap. It was while at their observation post that the Battery Commander, Major Holland, was killed by a rifle bullet'

'Major Holland was often said to be the first artillery officer killed in the Great War and a search of the CWGC database has confirmed that this was indeed the case.'

Buried: At first he was buried below the nearby factory wall but later the Germans re-buried him at Hautrage.

Grave: Hautrage Military Cemetery, Saint-Ghislain, Arrondissement de Mons, Hautrage, Belgium - Plot 1 Row B Grave 2.

Memorial: 1- Plaque on a column outside the Hotel de Ville, St Ghislain, near Mons.

'The bronze plaque in his memory which was mounted on a column outside the town hall and dedicated on 9 November 1919, must be one of the earliest private memorials on the Western Front, if not the earliest. Under the regimental badge and 1914-1918 it reads:

'AU MAJOR HOLLAND A SES VAILLANTS COMPAGNONS D'ARMES DE L'ARMEE BRITANNIQUE TOMBES AU CHAMP D'HONNEUR LE 23 AOUT 1914 LA VILLE SAINT GHISLAIN RECONAJSANTE'

The plaque is in excellent condition and is maintained by the town of St. Ghislain.

2 – St George's Garrison Church, Bulford, Wiltshire

Probate: 14th October 1914 Granted to Enid Gwen Pollock HOLLAND (Widow). Effects: £100
